Charlie Batch

Charlie Batch delivers a sense of sincerity, humor and human connection to his audiences as he shares his personal story and "Expect Your Best" message of inspiration and motivation.

Rooted in the premise that, "we succeed or fail by the level of our expectation," Charlie's presentations focus on raising the bar of expectation, becoming your best, overcoming obstacles and preparing before the moment.

His three rules for success – Be Ready, Be Resilient and Be the Pro – resonate with business professionals, students and charitable organizations alike, and his message reinforces the importance of character and decision making, proper health and fitness, and leadership in performance.

Energy Alert! PLEASE READ - Deceptive practices found locally.

Are you paying more than ever for your energy?

Your membership benefit includes a first class, energy program that is specifically tailored to meet the needs of your business. This is not your typical energy company, looking for a signature on the dotted line to sign you up as a customer. Instead, our exclusive program is designed with the bottom line of your business in mind, even if the best outcome is to stay with your current provider. The Chamber has partnered with this program since 1991, so there is a long history and level of trust that allows you to rest assured in knowing that this is something that will benefit you and will be safe to explore. Loren Martello is our representative and has been for a number of years. Many of you have met him at a chamber function and he may have cooked up a hot dog for you at our annual golf outing. Our office works closely with Loren, speaking or emailing with him regularly. He is part of our team.

Recently, two situations were brought to our attention, members who were experiencing much higher-than-normal energy bills. Initially they thought it was simply how things were going to be after hearing that energy prices were slated to increase over the summer. But it was much more than that. Read what one member shared with us.

Melody recommended speaking with Loren Martello, the Chamber Choice Energy Rep from World Kinect Energy Services, after I complained about how high the Greene County United Way's electric bill was recently - almost $500 each month for the last two months. Within minutes of Loren reviewing our bill, he had found that American Power and Gas - a scam electric supplier - was charging us 2.5 times more than normal and completely without our consent. After he explained our options, GCUW decided to move forward with the Chamber's Energy Fixed Rate program. And, other than signing on the dotted line, Loren took care of everything. As a nonprofit organization, we have to watch every dollar. And, thanks to Melody and Loren, we are able to use the money we are saving for our community.

--MaChal Forbes, Greene County United Way Executive Director

We ask that you please take a moment and review your energy bill. And if you are not the person that handles that in your business, please take this to whoever is that person. Furthermore, check your own energy bill at home. If you see American Power and Gas you need to take action immediately. A quick Google search of the company will return some very troubling feedback. There are numerous complaints with the Better Business Bureau and most share a common theme. The customers either never spoke to anyone or did speak with someone who they told there was no interest in switching providers. American Power and Gas made the switch for the customer without consent to do so. We hope that eventually the PA PUC will do something about the blatant "robbing" of customers through this practice. While this company is making waves locally, there are many more who operate in a similar fashion which was made possible by the deregulation of power suppliers. The bottom line is this, if you see American Power and Gas on your bill, you are paying nearly triple what you should be, and if you are paying more than 8 to 10 cents per kilowatt hour, you are paying too much.

For more information or to have your bills reviewed for savings, please email a copy of your most recent bill to info@greenechamber.org and we will pass along to Loren for a safety check and review.

Waynesburg University Celebrates Opening of Golf Facility at Greene County Country Club

Waynesburg University's new golf facility, located at the Greene County Country Club, celebrated its grand opening Friday, Sept. 15, 2023. Leadership from the University and the Country Club attended the ribbon cutting ceremony of "Swing Lab, Home of Waynesburg University Golf," the culmination of a partnership between Waynesburg University, the Greene County Country Club and several generous sponsors.

"The facility features three state-of-the-art Uneekor Eye XO Simulators that can capture and analyze every aspect of the golf swing and ball flight," said Waynesburg University Assistant Athletic Director for Development and Alumni Relations and assistant golf coach Chris Smithley. "The Eye XO launch monitor is a series of overhead cameras that not only captures a wide range of data, but will also capture live video of each swing."

The facility also houses 250-square feet of putting green and chipping areas to allow a golfer to work on his or her short game. One unique offering is a multi-sport software that provides a list of different sports and games that can be played on the simulator. Some of the sports in the package are hockey, baseball, soccer, bowling and football.

"Waynesburg University is grateful to the generous sponsors who have made this facility possible and for the work of our partners at the Greene County Country Club. This is a tremendous facility for all involved," said Douglas G. Lee, Waynesburg University President.

Conversations for the project began in October of 2021, with the goal of housing an indoor facility for the University men's and women's golf teams and students in general. The facility will also be available to members of the Country Club and the surrounding community. Advance reservations will be required.

Head coach Mike Cipoletti has already seen the impact that such a high-quality facility can provide to an athletic program. "We couldn't be more thrilled!" Cipoletti said. "The players are really looking forward to training in a dedicated space, and the coaching staff is anticipating that the flexibility an indoor facility provides will help our players maximize practice time. We're already seeing the benefits in recruiting. We take all of our recruits to see it, and they've been coming away very impressed. When recruits see what we have built, and they realize they will have access to practice there for free, they typically can't wipe the smile off of their faces."

Smithley went on to emphasize just how important the relationship between Waynesburg University and the Greene County Country Club was to the completion of the project. "The partnership between the Greene County Country Club and Waynesburg University has been an integral piece to the construction of the golf simulator. Many of the members and board members are Waynesburg alumni and it opened many doors for both sides," Smithley said. "We are extremely appreciative and thankful for those relations and look forward to the opportunity to grow with the country club."

Waynesburg University Vice President for Enrollment Management, Athletics, Facilities and Strategic Initiatives Adam Jack played a large role in facilitating the partnership, as he serves as the IT Chair on the Greene County Country Club Board of Directors.

Sponsors for the project include Waynesburg-based businesses Baily's Insurance, Iron Senergy, Fox Ford, Direct Results and First Federal Savings and Loan Association of Greene County. Other sponsors include Buddy Greco and DFS Wealth Management/ 4:12 Foundation.

For more information on reservations, please contact Smithley at 724-852-3246 or csmithle@waynesburg.edu.

Waynesburg U. kicks off 175th Anniversary Celebration with Pittsburgh Symphony Orchestra Holiday Brass Spectacular

Waynesburg University will kick off its 175th Anniversary celebrations with a Holiday Spectacular concert by the Pittsburgh Symphony Orchestra Brass Section in Roberts Chapel Wednesday, December 6, 2023, at 7:30 p.m.

The public is cordially invited to attend. Tickets are $15 per person and are available for purchase online at waynesburg.edu/pittsburghsymphony. Seating is limited, and tickets are available on a first come, first served basis.

“We are honored to bring this Holiday Spectacular to Greene County as we kick off Waynesburg University’s 175th Anniversary celebration,” said Stacey Brodak, Waynesburg University’s vice president for institutional advancement and university relations. “We hope local residents will join us as we celebrate both the holiday season and 175 years of light for the University.”

In recent years, the Pittsburgh Symphony Orchestra began a holiday tradition of presenting this brass concert in Heinz Hall to sold out crowds. This year, Waynesburg University is pleased to present a preview of that performance to Greene County and the surrounding communities for a portion of the cost to Heinz Hall. Hailed as one of the world’s finest orchestras, the Pittsburgh Symphony Orchestra has been the standard of culture in Pennsylvania for over a hundred years. This year, that artistry comes to Waynesburg in a festive holiday performance of brass music celebrating the holiday season. This Holiday Spectacular, perfect for the whole family, is sure to usher in the merry season! Twelve members of the symphony brass and percussion sections of the Pittsburgh Symphony Orchestra will perform works from the Baroque era, along with arrangements of beloved holiday melodies.

Waynesburg University will celebrate its 175th Anniversary in 2024. The theme of the year-long celebration, “175 Years of Light,” focuses on honoring the University’s mission as well as its motto, “fiat lux,” or “let there be light,” with a special emphasis on Matthew 5:14, “You are the light of the world. A city that is set on a hill cannot be hidden.”

As part of the anniversary celebration, the University will be hosting a special calendar of events on campus and fundraising initiatives throughout 2024. More information on the calendar of events will be announced in the coming months.

Embracing Family Friendly Benefits

In today's work environment, the line between personal and professional life is becoming increasingly blurred. As a result, employees are seeking more comprehensive benefits that accommodate their family responsibilities and foster a healthy work-life balance. More employers today have begun to understand that an expansion of family-friendly benefits above and beyond federal law requirements is a key facet to protecting the physical and mental health of their workers.

Family friendly benefits are essential in attracting and retaining top talent, as they demonstrate an organization's commitment to supporting its employees beyond the workplace. Employers can utilize a few key strategies in order to effectively include family-friendly benefits in their employee benefit package, which can help lead to positive impacts on employee well-being, job satisfaction and overall organizational success.

- Flexible Work Arrangements

One of the most fundamental principles of family-friendly benefits is that of flexible work arrangements. This can allow employees to better balance their professional and family obligations, and include options like telecommuting, flextime, compressed workweeks or job sharing. Offering such flexibility not only enhances employee happiness but also improves productivity and job satisfaction. By focusing on results rather than strict office hours, employers can demonstrate a trust of their employees to manage their time and deliver the required performance, leading to a more motivated and engaged workforce.

- Paid Parental Leave

Paid Parental Leave plays an important role in promoting family-friendly policies. Providing adequate time off and compensation for new mothers and fathers allows employees to bond with their children during those formative early months. Beyond the emotional benefits, paid parental leave also contributes to increased employee loyalty, reduced turnover and a positive employer brand that attracts top talent seeking a supportive work environment.

- On-Site or Subsidized Childcare

Supporting working parents by offering on-site or subsidized childcare is a game-changer for many employees. By alleviating the stress of finding reliable childcare, employers can demonstrate their commitment to the well-being and needs of their employees. Additionally, on-site childcare can improve attendance, reduce lateness, and boost overall productivity. When on-site childcare may not be feasible, partnering with nearby childcare centers and offering financial assistance can still provide valuable support to working parents.

- Dependent Care Flexible Spending Accounts (FSAs)

Dependent Care FSAs allow employees to set aside pre-tax dollars to cover eligible childcare expenses, such as daycare, after-school programs, or summer camps. By offering this benefit, employers help reduce the financial burden of childcare costs for employees, making it easier for them to manage work and family responsibilities without sacrificing their financial stability.

- Elder Care Support

Family friendly benefits should not be limited to childcare, organizations should also consider elder care support for employees with aging parents or family members in need of assistance. Offering resources, counseling and referrals for elder care services can provide much needed relief to employees navigating these complex family situations.

- Work-Life Balance Programs and Resources

Implementing work-life balance programs and resources can help employees better manage their personal and professional commitments. This may include wellness programs, stress management workshops, counseling services or flexible time-off policies. Employers can encourage a healthy work-life balance by promoting self-care and providing avenues for employees to recharge and rejuvenate, ultimately leading to increased productivity and reduced burnout.

The Greene County Chamber of Commerce offers its members access to My Benefit Advisor as a solution for employee benefits, including voluntary offerings. For more information about My Benefit Advisor, visit our website at greene.mybenefitadvisor.com or contact Mike Galardini at (800) 377-3539.
