ABOUT GREENE COUNTY

A PLACE TO CALL HOME

If you prefer a casual lifestyle, Greene County is your kind of place. Most of the residents enjoy small-town or country living, but they also like the idea of having the advantages of the big city close by. When people return to their homes at night, they feel secure in knowing that they are living in one of the most crime-free areas in the nation. Housing needs have grown in recent years and are in the midst of another growth spurt, but the area retains a warm and inviting neighborly feel.

There are numerous small towns dotted across the beautiful rolling country side. Farms abound and the sight of calves frolicking in fields is common each spring. Greene County offers a laid back, family friendly lifestyle.

Waynesburg is the county seat with a sense of its historical past. The Historic District, a Victorian-style downtown area encompasses 61 acres and includes the campus of Waynesburg University. A day spent walking through the business and residential districts will offer many excellent examples of charming, turn-of-the-century architecture.

For those contemplating the construction of a new home, there is a tax abatement program available to new residential construction and commercial construction. Under the program, real estate taxes related to improvements on the property will be abated for three years in resident instances and five years in commercial instances.

Cheers to 125 Years

The Greene County Chamber of Commerce is celebrating 125 years of serving the community since its founding in 1901. Over the years, the Chamber has evolved, adapting to the changing needs of Greene County, Pennsylvania. Initially formed as the Waynesburg Chamber of Commerce, it became the Waynesburg Board of Trade in 1902 and later the Waynesburg Merchant's Association in 1905. These early groups organized community events such as the Fourth of July celebrations and Christmas tree displays, emphasizing civic engagement.

In May 1922, the Chamber was reestablished as the Waynesburg Chamber of Commerce, uniting local business interests. It launched initiatives like the Curb Market, supporting local agriculture. Throughout the 1930s, the Chamber sponsored events and advocated for infrastructure improvements including roads and railways, but disbanded in 1938, with its mission upheld by the Waynesburg Business Association.

Reorganized in 1945, the Chamber maintained its business support role, introducing events like the Miss Rain Day Contest. The Chamber helped establish Waynesburg Prosperous and Beautiful in the 1990s, focusing on downtown revitalization. It also initiated tax abatement programs, supported historical renovations, and established scholarships.

In 2017, it was renamed to the Greene County Chamber of Commerce to reflect its broader mission. It achieved accreditation from the Pennsylvania Association of Chamber Professionals in 2018. As a leading advocate for local businesses, the Chamber organizes events and programs that promote economic growth and has been recognized as one of the largest chambers in Southwestern Pennsylvania.

From its humble beginnings to its current role, the Greene County Chamber of Commerce has significantly impacted the economic and social landscape of the area, continuing to foster growth and community connection.
